THREE COUNTIES SUFFER FROM SFVERE STORM

Washington, Green and Fayette Are Devasated

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARNS

One in Brownsville Junction and One in Independence Township Burned

Considerable damage has been reported in various parts of Washington, Fayette and Greene counties from the effects of the electrical and rain storm Friday afternoon, which came as a relief to the oppressive heat. Charleroi was given the best the weather man had to offer and was not troubled with heavy thunders or electrical disturbances to any great extent, but other communities suffered severely.

Farmers in the three counties were among the heaviest losers. Corn and oat crops were much damaged and devastation showed in the fields after the storm had passed.

Lightning struck the barn and home of Jacob J. Bailey, at Brownsville Junction. Four horses were burned to death. Several vehicles and 900 bushels of corn were burned. His loss was among the heaviest individual losses. A barn on the farm of Mrs. Margery Mulholland, in Independance township, was struck by lightning and destroyed, with contents, including 15 tons of hay and much farm machinery. The loss is $3,000.

Canonsburg people suffered to no small extent. Basements were flooded during the down pour and windows were shattered by the heavy fall of hail. It was the heaviest rain storm that has struck the Canonsburg region for 15 years.

COUPLE ELOPES TO CUMBERLAND WHERE THEY QUIETLY WED

It was not known until Friday that Miss Edna Clendaniel of Donora who was a house guest at the home of Sheriff John C. Murphy at Washington was in reality Mrs. Frank O'Donnell, the marriage having taken place at Cumberland, Md., the previous day. An odd feature of the case is that the two brothers of the groom made the arrangements for the elopement and aided Miss Clendaniel and Mr. O'Donnell in getting away from Donora in a big touring car.

When the automobile party arrived in Washington, going to the Murphy home they explained that they were on a little automobile trip for a few days. Later the supposed Miss Campbell stated she wished to send a telegram to her father, William Clendaniel, and then it was discovered that the marriage had been performed. It is said the young people made the journey to Cumberland by automobile, returning to Washington to keep the engagement the bride had with the Murphys.

After a short visit Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell accompanied by her two brothers who aided Cupid so manfully, will leave on an extended automobile honeymoon.

SHAKES THE HOSPITAL

Man Said to Have Escaped Through Window of Institution

HAD HIS NIGHTGOWN ON

Clad in nightgown, with a slipper on one foot and a shoe on the other, an occupant at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital, whose name the hospital authorities would not divulge, escaped from the institution Saturday morning by jumping from a window. He came direct to Charleroi where he met Chief of Police Albright who had been notified and was looking for him. The man told the chief he had come away from the hospital in order to get protection from a mob and wanted to be locked up to further protect him. He was accommodated in the latter desire. The hospital authorities were notified and the man was asked to return to the institution but this he this morning refused to do. It is likely he may be removed to some other place. He was at the hospital, it is stated, being given special treatment to correct an appetite for strong liquids.

AGREES TO STAY AWAY FROM TOWN UNTIL JULY, 1912

Tom Barclay, famous bridge jumper who not iong ago was committed to the county home and who celebrated the occasion by walking away from that institution, to come back to Charleroi has been requested to leave Charleroi, and not return until July 4, 1912. The last seen of him he was on his way to Fayette county. Tom said he did not expect to come back here until his "leave of absence" was up.

RIVERS AND HARBORS COMMITTEE TO VISIT ALONG THREE RIVERS

Congressional Body to Start on Trip on July 19--May Come up the Monongahela Valley

Much interest centers in the coming visit of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress to the Pittsburg vicinity on Thursday, July 20. They will leave Washington, D. C. in a special train on July 19, for Oil City. A program is being formulated and it is expected to announce the schedule of stops and places to be visited in a few days. It is quite possible that a trip will be taken up the improved Monongahela river to view the work already done. They also expect to go to Ashtabula from Pittsburg and spend one day in looking over the route of the proposed Lake Erie & Ohio River Ship Canal. Then follows a trip down the Ohio to Cario, Ill.

The object of the tour is threefold. Improvement of the Allegheny River, encouraging the proposed ship canal, and hastening the improvement of the Ohio River so that instead of requiring twelve years, as authorized and outlined by Congress, it will be completed in 1915, the same year the Panama Canal will have been finished. In addition the proposed reservoirs and plans for preventing floods will be one of the most important considerations. Sites will be inspected and as much data as possible be secured.

The distinguished visitors will no doubt be given warm receptions along the line of their itinerary. Already many towns and cities along the Ohio are making preparations. It is proposed to impress the visitors with the importance, resources and needs of every community in such a manner as to make the most favorable impression possible. People from the Monongahela valley, who are intensely interested in the improvement of the Ohio may take a hand in the entertainment of the Committee.

JUDGES CLEAN UP THE DOCKET

Judge McIlvaine Goes to Battle Creek, Mich.--Judge Taylor Stays at Home

Judge J. A. McIlvaine this week made a cleanup of the court calendar and is now making arrangements to leave Washington for his summer vacation. The judge expects to start Tuesday morning for Battle Creek, Mich., where he and Mrs. McIlvaine will spend four weeks.

Judge J. F. Taylor will spend his vacation largely at home and in all probability will not leave Washington. This is always very convenient to the members of the bar in an official way, as the absence of both judges in some instances might complicate matters that appertain to court proceedings. Judge Taylor may camp, as in past seasons, at some point near Washington.

PRESIDENT WHITE CALLS OFF STRIKE IN IRWIN FIELD

By instruction of President John F. White of the United Mine Workers, the Irwin strike in the Irwin field was formally called off this week. This struggle, which was instituted 16 months ago for the purpose of unionizing the field, is now ended without accomplishing its object. During the struggle which was a bitter one between the miners' organization and the operators, 18 lives were lost, and over $1,000,000 were expended in relief. Tents were erected for the evicted strikers' families, which were ocupied during the winter, entailing many hardships and suffering. At one time about 20,000 miners were involved, but many sought work elsewhere until only about 2,000 remained in the miner's camps. These have been instructed to get work wherever they can, as relief will no longer be granted by the organization.

President White in a published statement says that more than one-half of the 700, 000 miners in this country are now out of work, and that there are just three times too many coal miners to handle the work at present.

Popular Couple Marry.

Miss Mollie McCune and Robert Williams, of Fayette City, were married on Thursday morning by the Rev. W. E. Howard, pastor of the Oakland Presbyterian church, Pittsburg, at his home on Ward street. Only a few relatives and near friends witnessed the ceremony. After a brief visit in Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside at Fayette City, where the groom conducts a drug store.

CELEBRATE ORIGIN OF P. H. C. CLUB

Jockey Four Provides Entertainment and Refreshments for Members

The seventh anniversary of the Jockey Four Club of Charleroi Circle No. 303, P. H. C., was celebrated Friday night in a fitting but unique manner at the regular meeting of the circle. The original members of the club are H. M. Booth, C. B. Copeland, George Collins, and C. E. Velletay. Its foundation originated seven years ago when the above named officiated in serving refreshments to a large crowd in a record breaking period. Friday evening's event was in keeping with the original affair, the club having as an auxiliary in their work four women, Mrs. J. M. Evans, Mrs. Mary Dunmire, Miss Sarah Booth and Miss Mary Davis, who were elected honorary members of the club. George Collins, one of the charter members of the club was not present and his place was filled by Frank Taylor. H. Booth, president of the club set up the "eatings" and ice cream, and a cake walk free for all was a feature. Miss Marie Velletay took the cake.

Newly elected officers of the Charleroi Circle will be regularly installed next Friday evening. Local deputy H. M.Booth will inaugurate a membership contest about August 1. He will offer prizes. Mr. Booth gave out $15 as prize money Friday evening to the deserving ones who participated in a recent contest. Charleroi circle now has a membership of 429. It is the intention to increase this number to 500 by January 1 next.

COMMERCIAL COURSE TO BE ADDED TO THE DONORA HIGH SCHOOL

A commercial course will be added to the curriculum of the Donora High school this year. Principal M. DeVaughn, Jr., is now outlining a course and will go to Pittsburg soon to look over the courses in vogue in the business colleges there for the purpose of adopting their best features. The addition of a commercial course or business course will give High school students an opportunity to choose between it and taking the regular High school work.

George B. Bower Promoted.

Quitting the river in May, after having followed steamboating for 15 years or more, George R. Bower, a Belle Vernon boy, was last week appointed United States inspector of marine boilers at Louisville, Ky. He was at the home of his parents in Belle Vernon when he received the news of his appointment and at once left for his new field, entering upon his duties the first of the month.

IMPORTANT WORK WILL BE DONE AT GOVERMENTYARD

Relief Afforded By Gentle Rain

Heat Wave Broken by Downpour Lasting Part of Friday Afternoon

Relief from the oppressive heat lasting for several days came in the form of a much welcomed rain Friday afternoon. The rain preceded by a wind storm was not the usual down pour that ends an excessively hot period, but it continued for some time, and was sufficient to cool the atmosphere.

This morning Old Sol was on the job again warming up to his work, and this afternoon is little improvement over the kind of weather we have been experiencing every day so far this week. However, the mercury is a few degrees lower.

The rain coming yesterday afternoon laid the dust of the roads and made traveling a pleasure.

MINE IS REOPENED

Vesta Workings Start After Shutdown of Three Weeks

TROUBLE OVER POWDER

About 800 miners went to work at Vesta No. 4 mines of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company at California Thursday after a shut down of about three weeks owing to a dispute between the miners and operators over the kind of explosives to be used. The miners insisted on using the old black powder in blasting while the mine officials demanded they should use carbonite. An agreement has been reached and it is probable that it will be running in full force in a short time. The mine employes about 1300 men.

The Hungarians employed at the mine held a meeting on Wednesday, and it is stated, they were first to start to work. There is about 450 Hungarians employed at the mine.

Marriage License Out Many Months; Returned Unused

A marriage license issued on November 10, 1910, came back to the clerk of courts office at Washington Friday unused. It was sent back by Justice T. N. Hough, of Marianna, and there was no reason given why the marriage had not been performed. The parties were John Dawson, aged 23 years and Ellen Henderson, aged 19 years. At the time the license was issued the mother of the girl gave her consent, the daughter not being of age. The justice in his letter says the license was handed him, to be returned, by Miss Henderson John and Ellen are out over something or other.

New Dredge Boat to be Constructed This Fall

MUCH LUMBER TO BE USED

Cardloads of Timber Shipped From Forest County--Cost Will be Heavy

Lumber was received at the government yards at North Charleroi during the week to be used in the construction of a new dredge boat this fall. The work will be the most important done for some time at the government yard, involving an expense of about $15,000 or $16,000. The new dredge boat will take the place of No. 1 dredge now in service, and the machinery from No. 1 will be transferred to it.

Between 70,000 and 80,000 feet of lumber will be used in the construction of the new dredge. Practically all this lumber comes from Forest county, in the northern part of the State. George S. Nutt, superintendent at the govenrment yards was in Forest county recently and purchased the lumber.

A dredge boat is an important acquisition in river work. One costs to build when new about $40,000, owing partly to the valuable machinery which is necessary, such as engines and derricks. Good wood has to be used and they must be thoroughly constructed to withstand the hard wear. No. 1 dredge boat is about worn out now. It has been in service for the last nine years. There are two dredge boats used along the Monongahela river in government work, both being used in lock repair work and numerous other jobs. The construction of the new dredge will begin before long, and will be done under the direction of the Superintendent Nutt.

HASTEN WORK OF REPAIRING AT ELIZABETH

The U. S. steamers Slackwater and Swan combined their working forces this morning and a double turn consisting of mechanics, pumps and engineers with laborers will rush the repairs now being made at Lock No. 3. The work with the present force will be rushed both day and night. The large lock chamber has been pumped out and all repairs to the valves and wickets can now be made with easy access. The coffer dams and bulkheads were all placed under the direction of Capt. James T. Nutt of the Slackwater and is a very complete and most successful job. The lock chamber can now be pumped entirely dry.

Classes Picnic.

A Sunday school class of girls taught by Mrs. Minton Shipe and a class of boys taught by Mrs. James Mitchell from the Christian Sunday school held a picnic Friday at the home of Samuel Beazell in Fallowfield township. The day was spent in the open with games of various nature. An enjoyable time was spent.

WISCONSIN'S INCOME TAX.

Wisconsin's Legislature has just passed the most remarkable income tax in existance, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. It requires all persons having an income of as little as $500 a year to make returns, but the tax is not levied until $800 is reached for a single person, and $1200 for a married one. However, incomes of husband and wife and of children under eighteen are to be lumped together, so that a man cannot put some of his property in his wife's name to escape the tax. The basis of $800 is that of Great Britain, but other features are different.

Up to $1000 incomes are taxed one per cent., and for each thousand dollars of income above that amount up $12,000 the increase is one-fourth of one per cent. Over $12,000 the tax is 6 per cent. This applies to corporations as well as individuals, and the only exceptions of income are Federal salaries, pensions and—please note this—salaries of members of the Legislature. The law-makers were careful to take excellent care of themselves.

This experiment will be watched with a great deal of interest. Wisconsin does not contain a vast number of millionairs, but there some in Milwaukee, and others in the smaller manufacturing towns and in the former lumbering regions, Senator Stephenson being conspicuous among the latter. The population is largely rural, but the farms are excellent, and it is certain that many farmers earn much more than $800 a year. Such manufacturing as is done in Wisconsin is of high grade, and many mechanics will have to pay their toll. Estimates of the amount of revenue to be derived from this source are so widely different as to afford little basis for calculation, but it is expected to be a considerable sum, enough to relieve all land from State taxes, and Senator LaFollette expects that this will make the new system popular.

BEGS THE QUESTION.

In order to divert attention from the question raised by the Mail over the wisdom of the county commisioners in committing the county to an obligation of over $857,000 for road building by the county exclusively, when possibly half of this sum might have been borne by the townships and State, with State appropriations afterwards for repairs the Washington Record makes a rambling dissertion about what it calls "the State Aid Delusion." It asserts that State aid was never anything but a subterfuge; such a road is nothing but a township road, anyway and that a county road is better than a township road. Inasmuch as the commissioners have decided that the county should bear the entire burden the Record sagely asks, "Why dip into the township treasuries?"

The Record fails to explain why a State aid road is a delusion. It will be a hard matter for that paper to convince the people here that the State aid road up Maple creek is a delusion. As a matter of fact the State aid roads in the county are as a rule superior to county roads constructed under the Finn law, because they are built under the supervision of State engineers and according to plans furnished by the State Highway department. The mere fact that the township pays a part of the cost instead of the county paying the entire expense has nothing to do with the quality of the road, as the Record's argument seems to infer. As for dipping into the township treasuries, the Mail fails to see why the county taxpayers should have any objections to this proceeding, as long as the townships are willing and anxious to contribute, with the advantage of having the State pay half the costs of maintenance ever afterward, instead of the entire burden falling upon the county taxpayers, as when the roads are constructed entirely by the county.

The truth of the mater is that the commissioners have made a serious business mistake in proceeding under the Flinn law instead of the Sproul law. There is no objection to the county spending that amount of money for the improvement of the highways within the county, but when double the results could be accomplished and half the expense for maintenance in the future shifted to the State, it should not require much business acumen to decide which plan is best for the taxpayers of the county

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The recent release of Pitcher Sam Leever by Pittsburg marks the passing of the last remnant of the old Pittsburg team as it was made up before the consolidation of the Pirates and Louisville, when the National League circuit was reduced from 12 to eight clubs. Until the season of 1907 brought a deal with Boston, Leever had one old comrade of the late 90's in Clarence Beaumont, who was finally let out of fast company by Chicago.

Leever's career has been a remarkable one and shows the old Pirate to have been one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game. For 12 full seasons and part of another pennant race he had been a member of the Pittsburg team and until the flight of time cut him down to emergency roles, a few years ago, he always ranked as one of the most successful slabmen in the majors. Indeed, there is one feature to his record that put him in a class of his own, for he was champion pitcher of the National League no less than three times—1901, 1903, and 1905—while his name also appeared at the head of the list in two other years, though he did not participate in a sufficient number of games to earn the title of leader.

Leever, who is now 38 years of age, was secured by the Pittsburg club of the Atlantic League, W. H. Watkins being then manager of the Pirates. Sam was troubled with a sore arm and pitched only one game that season, but the following year he was back with bells on, and from that time on ranked as one of the greatest flingers in the business.

Since joining the Pittsburg team Leever pitched a grand total of 290 games, and while this is not as much wark as some other veteran heavers have done, the records of few rivals are to be compared with that of Leever in the all-important matter of percentage of victories. Of those 290 games pitched, Leever won no less than 193 contests, against only 97 lost, for the remarkable percentage of .666.

Lever was well regarded in Charleroi, where he had many admireres. The last time he paid a visit here was on July 4, 1908, when in the capacity of scout for the Pittsburg Nationals he came to look over Bert Humphries, who was then pitching for Charleroi in the P. O. M. League and whose work was then attracting attention. Humphries however, did not make a very good showing that day, and his pitching did not appeal to Leever. Bert, however, has since made good in fast company, and is now pitching winning ball with the Philadelphia Nationals.

Park and Playground.

Charleroi dedicated a children's playground this week, Monongahela is getting ready to follow suit and Monessen has completed its plans for a town park. The East Side Land Co. dedicated a park site to the town when it was laid out, but of recent years had some misunderstanding with council. The Land Company would not give the town a deed until the boro had provided for its improvement. The town has obligated itself to spend $4,500 on the improvement of the site this year and $3,000 a year for three years, after which $2,000 per year is to be expended for nine years. It looks like Monessen was going after the matter in a business like way, and a way that might be followed to good advantage. How enjoyable a breathing spot would be here these sweltering nights. If the preservation of good nature and comfort is a means of lessening violence the investment might be judiciously considered from a moral stand point. —Donora American.

Dickens' Literary Gains.

The papers have often printed a great deal of pure nonsense on the subject of Dickens' literary gains. Dickens is stated to have died leaving "earnings that often accrue to a respectable solicitor." This is rubbish. Dickens left £93,000 in round figures, and this did not include a considerable sum of money that he had settled some years before his death. His readings (1858-69) had brought in about £36,000. It is forgotten that Dickens began life without one penny and that every farthing he spent or gave away or left was earned by himself, only excepting £2,000 which was bequeathed to him by a friend about two years before his own death. Dickens lived liberally (some people said extravagantly) for about thirty-four years, he brought up and started in life a large and very expensive family, and he gave away a great deal of money to needy relatives. — London Truth.

Antiquity of the Senate.

The senate is historically much older than the lower house, or house of representatives, as it is called in our country and time. In the remote time, while as yet there was no such thing as a science of government, the tribe was wont to look to its old men, on account of their wisdom and experience, for advice in all matters pertaining to the tribe, and those old men were the first senators. The word senator comes from "senis," meaning old. As civilization advanced and seated government became a fact the senate continued to be composed of the old men, and when by and by the second chamber, or council, was added the senate continued to receive the larger measure of reverence and respect.—New York American.

Crow Quills Make the Best Pens.

A quill penmaker says that no pen will do as fine writing as the crow quill. It requires the assistance of a microscope to make a proper pen out of such a quill, but when made it is of wonderful delicacy. The microscopic writing told of in books of literary curiosities was all done with a crow quill. The steel pens of the present have very fine points, but somehow a finer point can be given to a quill than has ever been put on a steel pen, and for delicacy nothing can equal it.

Fox as a Gamester.

Charles James Fox, the English statesman, was even more notorious in the gaming world than he was famous in the world of politics. He had squandered $250,000 before coming of age. He became one of the most profligate gamesters of the vicious days in which he lived. Some of his finest displays in debate were sandwiched between excitement such as would unnerve most men who had no serious business on hand. Walpole has given a glimpse of a typical passage in this extraordinary man's life. He had to take part in the discussion on the thirty-nine articles in parliament on a certain Thursday. He had sat up playing hazard from Tuesday evening until 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. An hour before he had recovered $60,000 that he had lost and by dinner time, which was 5 o'clock, ended losing $55,000. On Thursday he spoke in the debate, went to dinner at past 11 at night; thence to a club, where he drank till 7 the next morning; thence to a gambling house, where he won $30,000, and between 3 and 4 in the afternoon he set out on a journey to Newmarket.

Had an Answer.

This story is being told on a Swede in central Kansas who was given to excessive use of the bottle. He was working at a certain house, doing odd jobs, and the daughter of the house knew of his reprehensible habits. She thought it time for some one to remonstrate with him on the error of his ways.

"Why," she asked, "are you not ashamed to spend all your wages and make your wife take in washing? Why don't you give her some money?"

"Well," he answered, "I have an income besides my wages."

"Oh, is that so?" said the daughter, somewhat mollified.

"Yes," he said, "I have an income from the queen of Sweden."

"What for?" asked the girl.

"For minding my own business," answered the Swede, going on with his work.—Kansas City Journal.

The Troubles of a French Academician.

The candidate, once elected, is bound to pronounce a harangue before he is allowed to take part in the work of the noble body. The director who happens to be in office answers him. This oration is invariably, or at least should be, composed first of thanks, more or less humble, for the great honor conferred, then of a panegyric of the happy one's predecessor. And, oh, how difficult that sometimes must be! More than one has rushed to the encyclopedia, then to the libraries, so as to get some clear notion of the illustrious eximmortal! Then fate is often ironical. A historian may have to celebrate the talent of a writer of light comedies, a legitimist may have to praise a Socialist, or else the newly elected member may have to speak of his most intimate enemy.—Jeanne Mairet in Atlantic.

The Bishop's Opinion.

"The late Bishop Whitaker," said a Philadelphia clergyman, "had very little sympathy with ultra high church leaning. A young divine once said to him at a Lenten lecture, 'Bishop, suppose I should burn a few pastilles during the service, do you think anything would happen?'

"Bishop Whitaker smiled dryly, and, passing his hand down his white beard, he answered:

"'A good deal would happen, my young friend. Your congregation would be incensed, your vestrymen would fume, and it's more than likely that you yourself would go up in smoke.'"

The Family Cat.

"Under normal conditions," says Chicago's health commissioner, "all the epidemic and local diseases thrive upon the family cat. The woman who refuses to give her child a redhot poker as a toy has no hesitancy in putting into its arms the most dangerous plaything—the family cat. It is no difficult matter to quarantine the child sick with scarlet fever or diphtheria, but the family cat goes where it pleases and comes when it likes."

England and Tobacco.

The people of Great Britain consume less tobacco per head than any other civilized people of the world.

AMONG THE THEATRES

The Palace—Charleroi.

A patriotic production photoplay that aptly expressed the sentiments of the season at the Palace Theatre this week was "The Star Spangled Banner." This thrilling drama represented the composition of this great American song epic which, as every school boy knows was inspired and composed under most dramatic circumstances. The cast of characters of the photoplay included Francis Scott Key, the composer, who was a prisoner of war on board a British ship which was attacking Fort McHenry, from whose ramparts floated the flag which still waved "'mid the rocket's red glare." It was a most inspiring and patriotic subject. Another great western photoplay that had a patriotic inspiration was "Fighting Blood." This was a Biograph subject, which shows the spirit of military training as applied to the bringing up of children. One of the catchy illustrated songs of the week by Louis Brusa was "Nora, My Irish Queen."

The Star—Charleroi.

This week's offering at the Star included "A Redskin's Bravery," "War Time Wooing," "The Bridal Trail," "The Pugilist's Child," "The Monogram'," "The Last Appeal," "The Sheepman's Daughter," "A Circus Stowaway," "Johnson and Lee," and many others. Three reels of films of the latest approved photoplays are presented every day at matinee and at night. In this repertoire it will be observed by the titles that every phase of human interest is presented, and some thrilling as well as sentimental productions are included. Comedy and tragedy are not neglected, and travel, science and art are happily interspersed to charm the audiences, and to add to their comfort while in his cozy theatre.

The Grand—Pittsburg.

Manager Harry Davis, who has been in New York during the past few days, arranging for productions by his stock company, at the Grand, has concluded negotiotions with the Clyde Fitch heirs for a presentation of "The Girl With the Green Eyes", the week beginning next Monday afternoon, July 10. This is one of the four American plays selected by Brander Matthews, the celebrated critic, to be counted among the classics.

The acts are situated in New York and at Rome. The girl with the green eyes is a young wife who conceives the most ludicrous reasons for jealousy of her straight-going and much devoted husband. In the first act the dramatic shows us New York society life, introducing many odd but accurate types In the second act he takes us to the vatican at Rome where, in the magnificient art gallery we see the tourist parties in their mad chase through the salons. In the final act the characters are all back in New York and Mr. Fitch cleverly contrives to bring about a natural sequence of events, not only possible, but entirely plausible. The play is considered particularly fitted for presentation by Mr. Davis' players and a production worthy of a Broadway premier is assured.

The Hippodrome—Pittsburg.

There will be competitive balloon flights at the Hippodrome in Forbes Field next week and from the manner in which these races are held there are sure to be enough thrills and sufficient of excitement to satisfy the most blase seekers after high class out door amusement. In addition there will be a program that will be uniformly good in which there will be several feature acts that could easily be used as headliners if the balloon men and women had not been engaged. The Broadwicks, French aeronauts, have not their equals in this country in the field of balloon racing and the subsequent parachute jump. A great feature of their performance is the flight taken by The Doll Girl, as Miss Tina Broadwick is known professionally. She is undoubtedly the littlest girl that makes balloon ascensions and does the parachute finale.

At the Hippodrome next week, this mite of a child will soar into the clouds in the biggest balloons that her father owns, and will then drop to earth by the aid of her parachute. The "umbrella" that The Doll Girl uses is not much bigger than the small parasols that tots carry on the streets, and, in addition to the drop, she does balancing stunts on the small seat coming down. Broadwick, Sr. and the others who make the ascensions, set off fire-works on their way up and while coming down with the parachute. In a flight of 5,000 feet, the contesting men will drop 1,000 feet before they open their parachutes. In addition to the balloonists, Willis and Hassan, expert hand balancers and refined athletes, will be one of the features of the bill Managers Harry Davis and John P. Harris will not announce the rest of the bill yet, because they are planning several agreeable surprises The advance sale of seats is now on at Lechner & Schoenberger's adjoining the Grand; May's, Penn near Highland, and Forbes Field.

Backache is the Signal .that .Kidney Diseases are Nigh.

Who doesn't dread the advanced stages of kidney trouble—Bright's disease, dropsy and gravel.

But today throughout America, there are tens of thousands suffering the torments of hopeless agony just because they failed to heed the first signal, the certain warning of future misery—backache.

Bachache means that your kidneys are weak.

Stop kidney disease at the start, that's the easiest way and Thompson's Barosma is the surest remedy. W. F. Hennings' sells it, and is willing to guarantee it to stop backache, sideache and sharp shooting pains and to cure Bright's disease and any and all kidney, liver and bladder trouble, or money back.

CROCODILE TEARS.

Old Legends That the Brutes Shed Them Over Their Prey.

There was an old story, to which we find constant reference in Elizabethan writers, that crocodiles wept over their prey. No doubt the legend arose because the crocodile possesses largely developed lachrymal glands, but it appears in various amusing forms.

As early as the fourteenth century, in "Mandeville's Travels," we find: "In that contre ben great plentee of Cokadrilles. Theise serpentes slen men, and thei eten hem wepynge."

An odd turn is given to the tale by the narrator of one of Sir John Hawkins' voyages. Whether he was a married man or not we do not know, but he writes: "His nature is ever, when he would have his prey to cry and sob like a Christian body, to provoke them to come to him, and then he snatched at them! And thereupon came this proverb, that is applied unto women when they weep, Lachrymae crocodili, the meaning whereof is that as the crocodile when he crieth goeth them about most to deceive, so doth a woman most commonly when she weepeth."

In Fuller's "Worthies" there is the added information that "the crocodile's tears are never true save when he is forced where saffron groweth." Shakespeare, Spenser and Dryden allude to this old world fancy.

Manganese and Its Uses.

Manganese is one of the substances which had long been used in the arts before its existence as an independent metal was recognized. From prehistoric times it was employed as a coloring material, but it was not known to be a distinct metal until 1774. In India the primitive smiths used it as a flux and as an alloy for holding iron and bronze. Today its power as an oxidizer, rendering it a most important disinfectant, and its value as a chemical reagent, as well as its increasing use as an alloy, caused an active search to be made for its ores. It is widely distributed, forming about one-thousandth of the substance of the earth's crust.

Not His Mistake.

The other day an old woman bounced into an office with a notification that had been sent to her to the effect that unpaid taxes on some property belonging to her were due. She asserted she had paid them. A clerk got out the books to prove that she had not and suggested that she had made a mistake. She still declared, however, that she had paid.

"Don't you ever make mistakes?" she inquired.

The clerk assured her that he did not and jokingly added, "The only mistake I ever made was when I got married."

She looked at him for a moment and then said: "No. Your wife made that mistake."—Exchange.

ANNOUNCES AS A CANDIDATE

Loren Hopkins Asks Voters to Consider His Name for Register of Wills

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Loren F. Hopkins of Centerville for the Republican nomination for Register of Wills of Washington county. Mr. Hopkins is not a new advent in the political field, having served the county as Jury Commissioner in a very acceptable manner. He numbers his friends by the hundreds throughout the county, and is considered one of the most formidable candidates for the people. He is a staunch Republican and has always been an active worker in the ranks of the party.

Mr. Hopkins is a young man possessed of the business intelligence and qualifications to fill the office most acceptably. Should he be honored with the nomination and election, the people of this county would be well served, and at the completion of his term he would be able to turn it over to his successor in such shape that nothing but commendation could be given him.

He asks the Republican voters of this vicinity to support him at the primaries on September 30.

RHEUMATIC TWINGES.

Before These Pains Get a Hold Take Precautions.

Rheumatism is now considered by many doctors to be a blood disease and should be treated by rigid dieting Medicines, at least in the first stages are less effective than curbing the appetite.

If one is of rheumatic tendency she should eat little or no red meat, cut out sugar, bread, sweets and acid fruits and should drink plenty of water.

This may seem like a severe treatment for a small complaint, at the first only twinges. Neglected, they mean untold suffering, often complete disablement.

It would be a good thing for those of us who are inclined to take rheumatic twinges lightly to recall the definition of the late Dr. Spurgeon, himself a great sufferer from rheumatism and gout, "If you put your hand into a vise and let a man press as hard as he can, that is rheumatism; if he can be got to press a little harder, it is gout."

Before that vise gets such a hold it cannot be loosed, take precautions Dieting may not be pleasant, but it is pleasanter than being a rheumatic victim with only oneself to blame.

Self.

A perfect understanding of self is a perfect understanding of all things, for man is the condensed whole. From such a man no power is withheld. All things are obedient to him. —Freedom.

Life, upon the whole, is far more pleasurable than painful; otherwise we would not feel pain so impatiently when it comes.—Leigh Hunt.

IT CAME TRUE.

The Large Party and the Calamity That Followed.

"You can't make me believe," Uncle Abner Jarvis was saying, "that there isn't something in fortune telling."

His auditors were grouped round the stove in the corner grocery store. "Ever have any experience with it?" asked one of them.

"That's what I was going to tell you," resumed Uncle Abner. "Once when I was at the county fair I saw a little tent with a sign on the outside of it that said Mme. Somebody-or-other would tell your fortune for 25 cents I stepped inside just for fun.

"A woman with a thick veil over her face was sitting in a chair on a raised platform. I gave her a quarter, and she looked at my hand. One of the things she told me was that I was going to have a large party at my house in less than a month and that it would be followed by a calamity.

"I laughed at that. Thinks I to myself, 'We hain't had any parties of any kind to our house for two years, and I don't reckon we'll have one quite as soon as that.'

"But it did come true. In about two weeks my wife's Aunt Jane came to visit us, and if you think she ain't a large party you ought to see her. She weighs 287 pounds."

"But how about the calamity?" inquired the man who was sitting on the nail keg after a long pause.

"Well," said Uncle Abner slowly "she broke down our spare bed the first night she slept in it."—Youth's Companion

Trouble For the Tourists.

There is a story on record of three Irishmen rushing away from the race meeting at Punchestown to catch a train back to Dublin. At the moment a train from a long distance pulled up at the station, and the three men scrambled in. In the carriage was seated one other passenger. As soon as they had regained their breath one said:

"Pat, have you got th' tickets?"

"What tickets? I've got me loife! I thought I'd have lost that gettin' in th' thrain. Have you got 'em, Moike?"

"Oi? Begorrah, I haven't!"

"Oh, we're all done for, thin!" said the third. They'll charge us roight from th' other soide of Oireland."

The old gentleman looked over his newspaper and said:

"You are quite safe, gintlemen. Wait till we get to th' next station."

As soon as the train pulled up the little gentleman jumped out and came back with three first class tickets Handing them to the astonished strangers, he said: "Whist! I'll tell you how I did it! I wint along th' thrain. 'Tickets, plaze; tickets, plaze!' I called, and these belong to three Saxon towrists in another carriage."

Banks on the Lookout.

A merchant in a large city allowed his name to be posted in his club three times for nonpayment of dues. A few days after the last posting he applied to his bank for a loan. When the application came up to the bank's credit man—that newest of a bank's important officials—he pulled out the customer's history card.

The latest entry was one typewritten sentence. "Does not pay his club dues; three times delinquent." The loan was refused. The merchant was either careless, near broke or unappreciative of his credit standing. Any of these reasons looked bad to the banker.

Business men do not realize how closely their banks watch them—how much the banks are bound to know about their affairs, how much seemingly small things in their daily lives affect credit, and big things that they sometimes want to conceal too.—System Magazine.

Champion Egg Layers.

Many insects are extremely prolific. All of the order Hymenoptera, the bees and ants, lay large numbers, but they are easily excelled by the order Plecoptera, the stone flies, one female of which deposits from 5,000 to 6,000 eggs. But the champion egg layers are the insects embraced in the order Isoptera, the white ants. Dr. Howard states that these insects are called white ants because they are not ants and because they are not white, but he further goes on to tell us that the females of some of the African species grow to an enormous size, and their abdomen, swollen with eggs, becomes as big as a large potato. The rate at which the eggs are laid is extraordinary, being about sixty a minute, or 80,000 and upward a day.

Music of Flapping Wings.

The slow flapping of a butterfly's wings produces no sound. When the movements are rapid a noise is produced, which increases with the number of vibrations Thus the housefly, which produces the sound of F, vibrates its wings 21,120 times a minute, or 335 times a second, and the bee, which makes the sound of A, as many as 26,400 times, or 440 times a second. A tired bee hums on E and therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 330 times a second.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Charleroi People.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards more serious troubles. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill Charleroi cures are the proof.

Mrs John Wilson Third street Charleroi, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Piper Bros' Drug Store have been used in our family for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble and have always brought great relief. I took this remedy several years ago for disordered kidneys and in view of the good results I re ceived, I recommend it highly."

METHODISTS ARE WHITEWASHED BY SCORE OF 6 TO 0

Capt. Mason's Baptists Prove Too Strong for Barnett's Aggregation

Whitewashed to a finish by the Baptists Friday night the Methodists hung to their position at the last end of the standing with all the tenacity of a good grip. The score was 6 to 0. Both the Methodist and Baptist teams played with rather mussed up teams, owing to the rainy weather of the afternoon giving the idea that there would not be any game.

One Arch Mason did the hurling for the Baptists and did it so effectively that the Methodists only got two safeties off his delivery, one of these a scratch. The Baptists lammed the ball for five safeties off Bege and made them count something.

There weren't any scores made until the fourth. Then Lindsay got a walk, and Capt. Mason cracked out a two bagger scoring Lindsay. McIlvaine likewise laced the horsehide for two bases scoring Mason. Mac scored when Culp singled. Lindsay got a base on balls in the next inning stole second and came home on a couple of errors. In the sixth Paxton singled, and went to second and third on passed balls to come home on a wild heave. Donohue worked Bege for a walk in the seventh inning went to second on a foul fly which Protin held too long, and third on an error, coming home on a passed ball. Score:

LUTHERANS SEEM TO BE IN LINE TO GET PENNANT

Taking a bird's eye view of the situation in the Church League, it rather looks as though the Lutheran ant. The Episcopals, Catholics and Baptists, composing with the Lutherans the first division aggregation, will from the same view point be left to scrap it out among themselves which is entitled to second honors. At present the Episcopals look good for this share of the proceeds while the Catholics will crowd them for next highest money. But the unforseen may occur which might bring any one of these three teams scampering pell-mell from their positions.

The Lutherans however, appear to be safely ensconced at the head of the class. To have them spelled down will require three lost games, and the Episcopals or Catholics as the case may be to win every blessed one of theirs, or else by a different kind of hope, the Lutherans to lose all of the games they play and the Episcopals or Catholices win all but one they have to play. And that hardly looks reasonable to suppose.

Meanwhile the Catholices are just one game behind the Episcopals, and have an extra postponed contest to play. The Baptists are one game behind the Catholics.

It doesn't look now as though any team in a second division place was going to rise above that honor, but such a thing is possible. The Christians and First Presbyterians are at present tied, with 400 per cent each and each team has four games. The Baptists next above are four games ahead, with five yet to play. The Washington Avenues and the Methodists seem to have a lead on the bottom rung, and apparently are doing their best to stick right there. It is a matter of opinion who will be given last honors, but at pressent the Methodists have the best hold.

Told Him In Few Words.

A man once wrote to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher, saying that he had heard he smoked and could not believe it to be true. Would Mr. Spurgeon write and tell him if it really was so? The reply was:

"Dear Sir—I cultivate my flowers and burn my weeds. Yours truly, C. H. Spurgeon."

Puzzling.

BASEBALL BINGLES

The Methodists had two new faces in their line-up Friday night. Tom Gray was on first and Farrow did the catching. Pollock occupied the second bag position and Jimeson was sent to short. Farrow is a little chap, and young, but has with the proper amount of training the making of a good catcher.

* * *

Manager Cummings, of the Baptists was obliged to don a uniform and radiate in right field. He didn't have any chance and consequently played a perfect game. At bat he struck out as regularly as he knew how.

* * *

Had the game been put off a moment longer it would have been forfeited to the Methodists. The Baptists last player to round out the nine came just in time.

* * *

Jimeson had only one chance on short but accepted that neatly.

* * *

Arch Mason surely had things working his way. With a little coaching in the box there is no reason why he shouldn't make them all hunt the tall and uncut.

* * *

Protin is getting his batting eye back. Now then watch out.

* * *

The Baptists now have the long and the short of it. Jim Culp hailing from North Charleroi who was in middle garden Friday night has to look down when he peeps into Long John McIlvaines eyes. Scheiler who wasn't in Friday's game is the tiniest on the team.

* * *

McKean hit one down to third that was handled perfectly and with dispatch, yet he beat it out. Speedy is a hard man to catch on infield bounders.

* * *

Paxton doesn't look bad at second pillow for the Baptists.

Two negro men came up to the outskirts of a crowd where a senator was making a campaign speech. After listening to the speech for about ten minutes one of them turned to his companion and asked:

THREE COUNTIES SUFFER FROM SFVERE STORM

Washington, Green and Fayette Are Devasated

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARNS

One in Brownsville Junction and One in Independence Township Burned

Considerable damage has been reported in various parts of Washington, Fayette and Greene counties from the effects of the electrical and rain storm Friday afternoon, which came as a relief to the oppressive heat. Charleroi was given the best the weather man had to offer and was not troubled with heavy thunders or electrical disturbances to any great extent, but other communities suffered severely.

Farmers in the three counties were among the heaviest losers. Corn and oat crops were much damaged and devastation showed in the fields after the storm had passed.

Lightning struck the barn and home of Jacob J. Bailey, at Brownsville Junction. Four horses were burned to death. Several vehicles and 900 bushels of corn were burned. His loss was among the heaviest individual losses. A barn on the farm of Mrs. Margery Mulholland, in Independance township, was struck by lightning and destroyed, with contents, including 15 tons of hay and much farm machinery. The loss is $3,000.

Canonsburg people suffered to no small extent. Basements were flooded during the down pour and windows were shattered by the heavy fall of hail. It was the heaviest rain storm that has struck the Canonsburg region for 15 years.

COUPLE ELOPES TO CUMBERLAND WHERE THEY QUIETLY WED

It was not known until Friday that Miss Edna Clendaniel of Donora who was a house guest at the home of Sheriff John C. Murphy at Washington was in reality Mrs. Frank O'Donnell, the marriage having taken place at Cumberland, Md., the previous day. An odd feature of the case is that the two brothers of the groom made the arrangements for the elopement and aided Miss Clendaniel and Mr. O'Donnell in getting away from Donora in a big touring car.

When the automobile party arrived in Washington, going to the Murphy home they explained that they were on a little automobile trip for a few days. Later the supposed Miss Campbell stated she wished to send a telegram to her father, William Clendaniel, and then it was discovered that the marriage had been performed. It is said the young people made the journey to Cumberland by automobile, returning to Washington to keep the engagement the bride had with the Murphys.

After a short visit Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell accompanied by her two brothers who aided Cupid so manfully, will leave on an extended automobile honeymoon.

SHAKES THE HOSPITAL

Man Said to Have Escaped Through Window of Institution

HAD HIS NIGHTGOWN ON

Clad in nightgown, with a slipper on one foot and a shoe on the other, an occupant at the Monessen-Charleroi hospital, whose name the hospital authorities would not divulge, escaped from the institution Saturday morning by jumping from a window. He came direct to Charleroi where he met Chief of Police Albright who had been notified and was looking for him. The man told the chief he had come away from the hospital in order to get protection from a mob and wanted to be locked up to further protect him. He was accommodated in the latter desire. The hospital authorities were notified and the man was asked to return to the institution but this he this morning refused to do. It is likely he may be removed to some other place. He was at the hospital, it is stated, being given special treatment to correct an appetite for strong liquids.

AGREES TO STAY AWAY FROM TOWN UNTIL JULY, 1912

Tom Barclay, famous bridge jumper who not long ago was committed to the county home and who celebrated the occasion by walking away from that institution, to come back to Charleroi has been requested to leave Charleroi, and not return until July 4, 1912. The last seen of him he was on his way to Fayette county. Tom said he did not expect to come back here until his "leave of absence" was up.

RIVERS AND HARBORS COMMITTEE TO VISIT ALONG THREE RIVERS

Congressional Body to Start on Trip on July 19--May Come up the Monongahela Valley

Much interest centers in the coming visit of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress to the Pittsburg vicinity on Thursday, July 20. They will leave Washington, D. C. in a special train on July 19, for Oil City. A program is being formulated and it is expected to announce the schedule of stops and places to be visited in a few days. It is quite possible that a trip will be taken up the improved Monongahela river to view the work already done. They also expect to go to Ashtabula from Pittsburg and spend one day in looking over the route of the proposed Lake Erie & Ohio River Ship Canal. Then follows a trip down the Ohio to Cario, Ill.

The object of the tour is threefold. Improvement of the Allegheny River, encouraging the proposed ship canal, and hastening the improvement of the Ohio River so that instead of requiring twelve years, as authorized and outlined by Congress, it will be Panama Canal will have been finished. In addition the proposed reservoirs and plans for preventing floods will be one of the most important considerations. Sites will be inspected and as much data as possible be secured.

The distinguished visitors will no doubt be given warm receptions along the line of their itinerary Already many towns and cities along the Ohio are making preparations. It is proposed to impress the visitors with the importance, resources and needs of every community in such a manner as to make the most favorable impression possible. People from the Monongahela valley, who are intensely interested in the improvement of the Ohio may take a hand in the entertainment of the Committee.

JUDGES CLEAN UP THE DOCKET

Judge McIlvaine Goes to Battle Creek, Mich.--Judge Taylor Stays at Home

Judge J. A. McIlvaine this week made a cleanup of the court calendar and is now making arrangements to leave Washington for his summer vacation. The judge expects to start Tuesday morning for Battle Creek, Mich., where he and Mrs. McIlvaine will spend four weeks.

Judge J. F. Taylor will spend his vacation largely at home and in all probability will not leave Washington. This is always very convenient to the members of the bar in an official way, as the absence of both judges in some instances might complicate matters that appertain to court proceedings. Judge Taylor may camp, as in past seasons, at some point near Washington.

PRESIDENT WHITE CALLS OFF STRIKE IN IRWIN FIELD

By instruction of President John P. White of the United Mine Workers, the Irwin strike in the Irwin field was formally called off this week. This struggle, which was instituted 16 months ago for the purpose of unionizing the field, is now ended without accomplishing its object. During the struggle which was a bitter one between the miners' organization and the operators, 18 lives were lost, and over $1,000,000 were expended in relief. Tents were erected for the evicted strikers' families, which were ocupied during the winter, entailing many hardships and suffering. At one time about 20,000 miners were involved, but many sought work elsewhere until only about 2,000 remained in the miner's camps. These have been instructed to get work wherever they can, as relief will no longer be granted by the organization.

President White in a published statement says that more than one-half of the 700, 000 miners in this country are now out of work, and that there are just three times too many coal miners to handle the work at present.

Popular Couple Marry.

[illegible] Williams, of Fayette City, were married on Thursday morning by the Rev. W. E. Howard, pastor of the Oakland Presbyterian church, Pittsburg, at his home on Ward street. Only a few relatives and near friends witnessed the ceremony. After a brief visit in Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Williams will reside at Fayette City, where the groom conducts a drug store.

CELEBRATE ORIGIN OF P. H. C. CLUB

Jockey Four Provides Entertainment and Refreshments for Members

The seventh anniversary of the Jockey Four Club of Charleroi Circle No. 303, P. H. C., was celebrated Friday night in a fitting but unique manner at the regular meeting of the circle. The original members of the club are H. M. Booth, C. B. Copeland, George Collins, and C. E. Velletay. Its foundation originated seven years ago when the above named officiated in serving refreshments to a large crowd in a record breaking period. Friday evening's event was in keeping with the original affair, the club having as an auxiliary in their work four women, Mrs. J. M. Evans, Mrs. Mary Dunmire, Miss Sarah Booth and Miss Mary Davis, who were elected honorary members of the club. George Collins, one of the charter members of the club was not present and his place was filled by Frank Taylor. H. Booth, president of the club set up the "eatings" and ice cream, and a cake walk free for all was a feature. Miss Marie Velletay took the cake.

Newly elected officers of the Charleroi Circle will be regularly installed next Friday evening. Local deputy H. M.Booth will inaugurate a membership contest about August 1. He will offer prizes. Mr. Booth gave out $15 as prize money Friday evening to the deserving ones who participated in a recent contest. Charleroi circle now has a membership of 429. It is the intention to increase this number to 500 by January 1 next.

COMMERCIAL COURSE TO BE ADDED TO THE DONORA HIGH SCHOOL

A commercial course will be added to the curriculum of the Donora High school this year. Principal M. DeVaughn, Jr., is now outlining a course and will go to Pittsburg soon to look over the courses in vogue in the business colleges there for the purpose of adopting their best features. The addition of a commercial course or business course will give High school students an opportunity to choose between it and taking the regular High school work.

George R. Bower Promoted.

Quitting the river in May, after having followed steamboating for 15 years or more, George R. Bower, a Belle Vernon boy, was last week appointed United States inspector of marine boilers at Louisville, Ky. He was at the home of his parents in Belle Vernon when he received the news of his appointment and at once left for his new field, entering upon his duties the first of the month.

IMPORTANT WORK WILL BE DONE AT GOVERMENT YARD

Relief Afforded By Gentle Rain

Heat Wave Broken by Downpour Lasting Part of Friday Afternoon

Relief from the opressive heat lasting for several days came in the form of a much welcomed rain Friday afternoon. The rain preceded by a wind storm was not the usual down pour that ends an excessively hot period. but it continued for some time, and was sufficient to cool the atmosphere.

This morning Old Sol was on the job again warming up to his work, and this afternoon is little improvement over the kind of weather we have been experiencing every day so far this week. However, the mercury is a few degrees lower.

The rain coming yesterday afternoon laid the dust of the roads and made traveling a pleasure.

MINE IS REOPENED

Vesta Workings Start After Shutdown of Three Weeks

TROUBLE OVER POWDER

About 800 miners went to work at Vesta No. 4 mines of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company at California Thursday after a shut down of about three weeks owing to a dispute between the miners and operators over the kind of explosives to be used. The miners insisted on using the old black powder in blasting while the mine officials demanded they should use carbonite. An agreement has been reached and it is probable that it will be running in full force in a short time. The mine employes about 1300 men.

The Hungarians employed at the mine held a meeting on Wednesday, and it is stated, they were first to start to work. There is about 450 Hungarians employed at the mine.

Marriage License Out Many Months; Returned Unused

A marriage license issued on November 10, 1910, came back to the clerk of courts office at Washington Friday unused. It was sent back by Justice T. N Hough, of Marianna, and there was no reason given why the marriage had not been performed. The parties were John Dawson, aged 23 years and Ellen Henderson, aged 19 years. At the time the license was issued the mother of the girl gave her consent, the daughter not being of age. The justice in his letter says the license was handed him, to be returned, by Miss Henderson John and Ellen are out over something or other.

New Dredge Boat to be Constructed This Fall

MUCH LUMBER TO BE USED

Cardloads of Timber Shipped From Forest County--Cost Will be Heavy

Lumber was received at the government yards at North Charleroi during the week to be used in the construction of a new dredge boat this fall. The work will be the most important done for some time at the government yard, involving an expense of about $15,000 or $16,000. The new dredge boat will take the place of No. 1 dredge now in service, and the machinery from No. 1 will be transferred to it.

Between 70,000 and 80,000 feet of lumber will be used in the construction of the new dredge. Practically all this lumber comes from Forest county, in the northern part of the State. George S. Nutt, superintendent at the government yards was in Forest county recently and purchased the lumber.

A dredge boat is an important acquisition in river work. One costs to build when new about $40,000, owing partly to the valuable machinery which is necessary, such as engines and derricks. Good wood has to be used and they must be thoroughly constructed to withstand the hard wear, No. 1 dredge boat is about worn out now. It has been in service for the last nine years. There are two dredge boats used along the Monongahela river in government work, both being used in lock repair work and numerous other jobs. The construction of the new dredge will begin before long, and will be done under the direction of the Superintendent Nutt.

HASTEN WORK OF REPAIRING AT ELIZABETH

The U. S. steamers Slackwater and Swan combined their working forces this morning and a double turn consisting of mechanics, pumps and engineers with laborers will rush the repairs now being made at Lock No. 3. The work with the present force will be rushed both day and night. The large lock chamber has been pumped out and all repairs to the valves and wickets can now be made with easy access. The coffer dams and bulkheads were all placed under the direction of Capt. James T. Nutt of the Slackwater and is a very complete and most successful job. The lock chamber can now be pumped entirely dry.

Classes Picnic.

A Sunday school class of girls taught by Mrs. Minton Shipe and a class of boys taught by Mrs. James Mitchell from the Christian Sunday school held a picnic Friday at the home of Samuel Beazell in Fallowfield township. The day was spent in the open with games of various nature. An enjoyable time was spent.

WISCONSIN'S INCOME TAX.

Wisconsin's Legislature has just passed the most remarkable income tax in existance, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. It requires all persons having an income of as little as $500 a year to make returns, but the tax is not levied until $800 is reached for a single person, and $1200 for a married one. However, incomes of husband and wife and of children under eighteen are to be lumped together, so that a man cannot put some of his property in his wife's name to escape the tax. The basis of $800 is that of Great Britain, but other features are different.

Up to $1000 incomes are taxed one per cent., and for each thousand dollars of income above that amount up $12,000 the increase is one-fourth of one per cent. Over $12,000 the tax is 6 per cent. This applies to corporations as well as individuals, and the only exceptions of income are feudal salaries, pensions and—please note this—salaries of members of the Legislature. The law-makers were careful to take excellent care of themselves.

This experiment will be watched with a great deal of interest. Wisconsin does not contain a vast number of millionairs, but there some in Milwaukee, and others in the smaller manufacturing towns and in the former lumbering regions, Senator Stephenson being conspicuous among the latter. The population is largely rural, but the farms are excellent, and it is certain that many farmers earn much more than $800 a year. Such manufacturing as is done in Wisconsin is of high grade, and many mechanics will have to pay their toll. Estimates of the amount of revenue to be derived from this source are so widely different as to afford little basis for calculation, but it is expected to be a considerable sum, enough to relieve all land from State taxes, and Senator LaFollette expects that this will make the new system popular.

BEGS THE QUESTION.

In order to divert attention from the question raised by the Mail over the wisdom of the county commissioners in committing the county to an obligation of over $857,000 for road building by the county exclusively, when possibly half of this sum might have been borne by the townships and State, with State appropriations afterwards for repairs the Washington Record makes a rambling dissertion about what it calls "the State Aid Delusion." It asserts that State aid was never anything but a subterfuge, such a road is nothing but a township road, anyway and that a county road is better than a township road. Inasmuch as the commissioners have decided that the county should bear the entire burden the Record sagely asks, "Why dip into the township treasuries?"

The Record fails to explain why a State aid road is a delusion. It will be a hard matter for that paper to convince the people here that the State aid road up Maple creek is a delusion. As a matter of fact the State aid roads in the county are as a rule superior to county roads constructed under the Finn law, because they are built under the supervision of State engineers and according to plans furnished by the State Highway department. The mere fact that the township pays a part of the cost instead of the county paying the entire expense has nothing to do with the quality of the road, as the Record's argument seems to infer. As for dipping into the township treasuries, the Mail fails to see why the county taxpayers should have any objections to this proceeding, as long as the townships are willing and anxious to contribute, with the advantage of having the State pay half the costs of maintenance ever afterward, instead of the entire burden falling upon the county taxpayers, as when the roads are constructed entirely by the county.

The truth of the mater is that the commissioners have made a serious business mistake in proceeding under the Finn law instead of the Sproul law. There is no objection to the county spending that amount of money for the improvement of the highways within the county, but when double the results could be accomplished and half the expense for maintenance in the future shifted to the State, it should not require much business acumen to decide which plan is best for the taxpayers of the county.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The recent release of Pitcher Sam Leever by Pittsburg marks the passing of the last remnant of the old Pittsburg team as it was made up before the consolidation of the Pirates and Louisville, when the National League circuit was reduced from 12 to eight clubs. Until the season of 1907 brought a deal with Boston, Leever had one old comrade of the late 90's in Clarence Beaumont, who was finally let out of fast company by Chicago.

Leever's career has been a remarkable one and shows the old Pirate to have been one of the greatest pitchers in the history of the game. For 12 full seasons and part of another pennant race he had been a member of the Pittsburg team and until the flight of time cut him down to emergency roles, a few years ago, he always ranked as one of the most successful slabmen in the majors. Indeed, there is one feature to his record that put him in a class of his own, for he was champion pitcher of the National League no less than three times—1901, 1903, and 1905—while his name also appeared at the head of the list in two other years, though he did not participate in a sufficient number of games to earn the title of leader.

Leever, who is now 38 years of age, was secured by the Pittsburg club of the Atlantic League, W. H. Watkins being then manager of the Pirates. Sam was troubled with a sore arm and pitched only one game that season, but the following year he was back with bells on, and from that time on ranked as one of the greatest flingers in the business.

Since joining the Pittsburg team Leever pitched a grand total of 290 games, and while this is not as much work as some other veteran heavers have done, the records of few rivals are to be compared with that of Leever in the all-important matter of percentage of victories. Of those 290 games pitched, Leever won no less than 193 contests, against only 97 lost, for the remarkable percentage of .666.

Leever was well regarded in Charleroi, where he had many admirers. The last time he paid a visit here was on July 4, 1908, when in the capacity of scout for the Pittsburg Nationals he came to look over Bert Humphries, who was then pitching for Charleroi in the P. O. M. League and whose work was then attracting attention. Humphries however, did not make a very good showing that day, and his pitching did not appeal to Leever. Bert however, has since made good in fast company, and is now pitching winning ball with the Philadelphia Nationals.

Park and Playground.

Charleroi dedicated a children's playground this week, Monongahela is getting ready to follow suit and Monessen has completed its plans for a town park. The East Side Land Co. dedicated a park site to the town when it was laid out, but of recent years had some misunderstanding with council. The Land Company would not give the town a deed until the boro had provided for its improvement. The town has obligated itself to spend $4,500 on the improvement of the site this year and $3,000 a year for three years, after which $2,000 per year is to be expended for nine years. It looks like Monessen was going after the matter in a business like way, and a way that might be followed to good advantage. How enjoyable a breathing spot would be here these sweltering nights. If the preservation of good nature and comfort is a means of lessening violence the investment might be judiciously considered from a moral stand point. —Donora American.

Dickens' Literary Gains.

The papers have often printed a great deal of pure nonsense on the subject of Dickens' literary gains. Dickens is stated to have died leaving "earnings that often accrue to a respectable solicitor." This is rubbish. Dickens left £93,000 in round figures, and this did not include a considerable sum of money that he had settled some years before his death. His readings (1858-69) had brought in about £36,000. It is forgotten that Dickens began life without one penny and that every farthing he spent or gave away or left was earned by himself, only excepting £2,000 which was bequeathed to him by a friend about two years before his own death. Dickens lived liberally (some people said extravagantly) for about thirty four years, he brought up and started in life a large and very expensive family, and he gave away a great deal of money to needy relatives. — London Truth.

Antiquity of the Senate.

The senate is historically much older than the lower house, or house of representatives, as it is called in our country and time. In the remote time, while as yet there was no such thing as a science of government, the tribe was wont to look to its old men, on account of their wisdom and experience, for advice in all matters pertaining to the tribe, and those old men were the first senators. The word senator comes from "senis," meaning old. As civilization advanced and seated government became a fact the senate continued to be composed of the old men, and when by and by the second chamber, or council, was added the senate continued to receive the larger measure of reverence and respect.—New York American.

Crow Quills Make the Best Pens.

A quill penmaker says that no pen will do as fine writing as the crow quill. It requires the assistance of a microscope to make a proper pen out of such a quill, but when made it is of wonderful delicacy. The microscopic writing told of in books of literary curiosities was all done with a crow quill. The steel pens of the present have very fine points, but somehow a finer point can be given to a quill than has ever been put on a steel pen, and for delicacy nothing can equal it.

Fox as a Gamester.

Charles James Fox, the English statesman, was even more notorious in the gaming world than he was famous in the world of politics. He had squandered $250,000 before coming of age. He became one of the most profligate gamesters of the various days in which he lived. Some of his finest displays in debate were sandwiched between excitement such as would unnerve most men who had no serious business on hand. Walpole has given a glimpse of a typical passage in this extraordinary man's life. He had to take part in the discussion on the thirty-nine articles in parliament on a certain Thursday. He had sat up playing hazard from Tuesday evening until 5 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. An hour before he had recovered $60,000 that he had lost and by dinner time, which was 5 o'clock, ended losing $55,000. On Thursday he spoke in the debate, went to dinner at past 11 at night; thence to a club, where he drank till 7 the next morning; thence to a gambling house, where he won $30,000, and between 3 and 4 in the afternoon he set out on a journey to Newmarket.

"Why massa," returned Mose, with some surprise, "hit's wid de hoe."

"Where are they both, then?" asked the owner, with rapidly rising anger.

Had an Answer.

This story is being told on a Swede in central Kansas who was given to excessive use of the bottle. He was working at a certain house, doing odd jobs, and the daughter of the house knew of his reprehensible habits. She thought it time for some one to remonstrate with him on the error of his ways.

"Why," she asked, "are you not ashamed to spend all your wages and make your wife take in washing? Why don't you give her some money?"

"Well," he answered, "I have an income besides my wages."

"Oh, is that so?" said the daughter somewhat mollified.

"Yes," he said, "I have an income from the queen of Sweden."

"What for?" asked the girl.

"For minding my own business," answered the Swede, going on with his work.—Kansas City Journal.

The Troubles of a French Academician.

The candidate, once elected, is bound to pronounce a harangue before he is allowed to take part in the work of the noble body. The director who happens to be in office answers him. This oration is invariably, or at least should be, composed first of thanks, more or less humble, for the great honor conferred, then of a panegyric of the happy one's predecessor. And, oh, how difficult that sometimes must be! More than one has rushed to the encyclopedia, then to the libraries, so as to get some clear notion of the illustrious eximmortal! Then fate is often ironical. A historian may have to celebrate the talent of a writer of light comedies, a legitimist may have to praise a Socialist, or else the newly elected member may have to speak of his most intimate enemy.—Jeanne Mairet in Atlantic.

The Bishop's Opinion.

"The late Bishop Whitaker," said a Philadelphia clergyman, "had very little sympathy with ultra high church leaning. A young divine once said to him at a Lenten lecture, 'Bishop, suppose I should burn a few pastilles during the service, do you think anything would happen?'

"Bishop Whitaker smiled dryly, and, passing his hand down his white beard, he answered:

"'A good deal would happen, my young friend. Your congregation would be incensed, your vestrymen would fume, and it's more than likely that you yourself would go up in smoke.'"

The Family Cat.

"Under normal conditions," says Chicago's health commissioner, "all the epidemic and local diseases thrive upon the family cat. The woman who refuses to give her child a redhot poker as a toy has no hesitancy in putting into its arms the most dangerous plaything—the family cat. It is no difficult matter to quarantine the child sick with scarlet fever or diphtheria, but the family cat goes where it pleases and comes when it likes."

AMONG THE THEATRES

The Palace—Charleroi.

A patriotic production photoplay that aptly expresses the sentiments of the season at the Palace Theatre this week was "The Star Spangled Banner." This thrilling drama represented the composition of this great American song epic which, as every school boy knows was inspired and composed under most dramatic circumstances. The cast of characters of the photoplay included Francis Scott Key, the composer, who was a prisoner of war on board a British ship which was attacking Fort McHenry, from whose ramparts floated the flag which still waved "'mid the rocket's red glare." It was a most inspiring and patriotic subject. Another great western photoplay that had a patriotic inspiration was "Fighting Blood." This was a Biograph subject, which shows the spirit of military training as applied to the bringing up of children. One of the catchy illustrated songs of the week by Louis [illegible] "[illegible] Irish Queen."

The Star—Charleroi.

This week's offering at the Star included "A Redskin's Bravery," "War Time Wooing," "The Bridal Trail," "The Pugilist's Child," "The Monogram," "The Last Appeal," "The Sheepman's Daughter," "A Circus Stowaway," "Johnson and Lee." and many others. Three reels of films of the latest approved photoplays are presented every day at matinee and at night. In this repertoire it will be observed by the titles that every phase of human interest is presented, and some thrilling as well as sentimental productions are included. Comedy and tragedy are not neglected, and travel, science and art are happily interspersed to charm the audiences, and to add to their comfort while in his cozy theatre.

The Grand—Pittsburg.

Manager Harry Davis, who has been in New York during the past few days, arranging for productions by his stock company, at the Grand, has concluded negotiotions with the Clyde Fitch heirs for a presentation of "The Girl With the Green Eyes", the week beginning next Monday afternoon, July 10. This is one of the four American plays selected by Brander Matthews, the celebrated critic, to be counted among the classics.

The acts are situated in New York and at Rome. The girl with the green eyes is a young wife who conceives the most ludicrous reasons for jealousy of her straight-going and much devoted husband. In the first act the dramatic shows us New York society life, introducing many odd but accurate types In the second act he takes us to the vatican at Rome where, in the magnificient art gallery we see the tourist parties in their mad chase through the salons. In the final act the characters are all back in New York and Mr. Fitch cleverly contrives to bring about a natural sequence of events, not only possible, but entirely plausible. The play is considered particularly fitted for presentation by Mr. Davis' players and a production worthy of a Broadway premier is assured.

The Hippodrome—Pittsburg.

There will be competitive balloon flights at the Hippodrome in Forbes Field next week and from the manner in which these races are held there are sure to be enough thrills and sufficient of excitement to satisfy the most blase seekers after high class out door amusement. In addition there will be a program that will be uniformly good in which there will be several feature acts that could easily be used as headliners if the balloon men and women had not been engaged. The Broadwicks, [illegible] equals in this country in the field of balloon racing and the subsequent parachute jump A great feature of their performance is the flight taken by The Doll Girl, as Miss Tina Broadwick is known professionally. She is undoubtedly the littlest girl that makes balloon ascensions and does the parachute finale.

At the Hippodrome next week, this mite of a child will soar into the clouds in the biggest balloons that her father owns, and will then drop to earth by the aid of her parachute. The "umbrella" that The Doll Girl uses is not much bigger than the small parasols that tots carry on the streets, and, in addition to the drop, she does balancing stunts on the small seat coming down. Broadwick, Sr. and the others who make the ascensions, set off fire-works on their way up and while coming down with the parachute In a flight of 5,000 feet, the contesting men will drop 1,000 feet before they open their parachutes. In addition to the balloonists, Willis and Hassan, expert hand balancers and refined athletes, will be one of the features of the bill Managers Harry Davis and John P. Harris will not announce the rest of the bill yet, because they are planning several agreeable surprises The advance sale of seats is now on at Lechner & Schoenberger's adjoining the Grand; May's, Penn near Highland, and Forbes Field.

ANNOUNCES AS A CANDIDATE

Loren Hopkins Asks Voters to Consider His Name for Register of Wills

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Loren F. Hopkins of Centerville for the Republican nomination for Register of Wills of Washington county. Mr. Hopkins is not a new advent in the political field, having served the county as Jury Commissioner in a very acceptable manner. He numbers his friends by the hundreds throughout the county, and is considered one of the most formidable candidates for the people. He is a staunch Republican and has always been an active worker in the ranks of the party.

Mr. Hopkins is a young man possessed of the business intelligence and qualifications to fill the office most acceptably. Should he be honored with the nomination and election, the people of this county would be well served, and at the completion of his term he would be able to turn it over to his successor in such shape that nothing but commendation could be given him.

He asks the Republican voters of this vicinity to support him at the primaries on September 30.

CROCODILE TEARS.

Old Legends That the Brutes Shed Them Over Their Prey

There was an old story, to which we find constant reference in Elizabethan writers, that crocodiles wept over their prey No doubt the legend arose because the crocodile possesses largely developed lachrymal glands but it appears in various amusing forms.

As early as the fourteenth century, in "Mandeville's Travels," we find, "In that contre ben great plentee of Cokadrilles These serpentes slen men, and thei eten hem wepynge"

An odd turn is given to the tale by the narrator of one of Sir John Hawkins' voyages. Whether he was a married man or not we do not know, but he writes: "His nature is ever, when he would have his prey to cry and sob like a Christian body, to provoke them to come to him, and then he snatched at them! And thereupon came this proverb, that is applied unto women when they weep, Lachrymae crocodili, the meaning whereof is that as the crocodile when he crieth goeth them about most to deceive, so doth a woman most commonly when she weepeth"

In Fuller's "Worthies" there is the added information that "the crocodile's tears are never true save when he is forced where saffron groweth" Shakespeare, Spenser and Dryden allude to this old world fancy.

Manganese and Its Uses.

Manganese is one of the substances which had long been used in the arts before its existence as an independent metal was recognized. From prehistoric times it was employed as a coloring material, but it was not known to be a distinct metal until 1774. In India the primitive smiths used it as a flux and as an alloy for holding iron and bronze. Today its power as an oxidizer, rendering it a most important disinfectant, and its value as a chemical reagent, as well as its increasing use as an alloy, caused an active search to be made for its ores. It is widely distributed, forming about one-thousandth of the substance of the earth's crust.

Not His Mistake.

The other day an old woman bounced into an office with a notification that had been sent to her to the effect that unpaid taxes on some property belonging to her were due. She asserted she had paid them. A clerk got out the books to prove that she had not and suggested that she had made a mistake. She still declared, however, that she had paid.

"Don't you ever make mistakes?" she inquired.

The clerk assured her that he did not and jokingly added, "The only mistake I ever made was when I got married."

She looked at him for a moment and then said: "No. Your wife made that mistake."—Exchange.

IT CAME TRUE.

The Large Party and the Calamity That Followed.

"You can't make me believe," Uncle Abner Jarvis was saying, "that there isn't something in fortune telling."

His auditors were grouped round the stove in the corner grocery store "Ever have any experience with it?" asked one of them.

"That's what I was going to tell you," resumed Uncle Abner. "Once when I was at the county fair I saw a little tent with a sign on the outside [illegible] would tell your fortune for 25 cents I stepped inside just for fun.

"A woman with a thick veil over her face was sitting in a chair on a raised platform I gave her a quarter, and she looked at my hand. One of the things she told me was that I was going to have a large party at my house in less than a month and that it would be followed by a calamity

"I laughed at that Thinks I to myself, 'We hain't had any parties of any kind to our house for two years, and I don't reckon we'll have one quite as soon as that.'

"But it did come true In about two weeks my wife's Aunt Jane came to visit us, and if you think she ain't a large party you ought to see her. She weighs 287 pounds"

"But how about the calamity?" inquired the man who was sitting on the nail keg after a long pause

"Well," said Uncle Abner slowly, "she broke down our spare bed the first night she slept in it"—Youth's Companion

"Oi? Begorrah, I haven't!"

"Oh, we're all done for, thin!" said the third They'll charge us roight from th' other soide of Oireland"

The old gentleman looked over his newspaper and said

"You are quite safe, gintlemen Wait till we get to th' next station"

As soon as the train pulled up the little gentleman jumped out and came back with three first class tickets Handing them to the astonished strangers, he said: "Whist! I'll tell you how I did it' I wint along th' thrain 'Tickets, plaze! tickets, plaze!' I called, and these belong to three Saxon tourists in another carriage."

Banks on the Lookout.

A merchant in a large city allowed his name to be posted in his club three times for nonpayment of dues A few days after the last posting he applied to his bank for a loan When the application came up to the bank's credit man—that newest of a bank's important officials—he pulled out the customer's history card.

The latest entry was one typewritten sentence. "Does not pay his club dues, three times delinquent." The loan was refused The merchant was either careless, near broke or unappreciative of his credit standing. Any of these reasons looked bad to the banker.

Business men do not realize how closely their banks watch them—how much the banks are bound to know about their affairs, how much seemingly small things in their daily lives affect credit, and big things that they sometimes want to conceal too.—System Magazine.

Champion Egg Layers.

Many insects are extremely prolific. All of the order Hymenoptera, the bees and ants, lay large numbers, but they are easily excelled by the order Plecoptera, the stone flies, one female of which deposits from 5,000 to 6,000 eggs But the champion egg layers are the insects embraced in the order Isoptera, the white ants. Dr. Howard states that these insects are called white ants because they are not ants and because they are not white, but he further goes on to tell us that the females of some of the African species grow to an enormous size, and their abdomen, swollen with eggs, becomes as big as a large potato. The rate at which the eggs are laid is extraordinary, being about sixty a minute, or 80,000 and upward a day.

Music of Flapping Wings.

The slow flapping of a butterfly's wings produces no sound. When the movements are rapid a noise is produced, which increases with the number of vibrations Thus the housefly, which produces the sound of F, vibrates its wings 21,120 times a minute, or 335 times a second, and the bee, which makes the sound of A, as many as 26,400 times, or 440 times a second. A tired bee hums on E and therefore, according to theory, vibrates its wings only 330 times a second.

RHEUMATIC TWINGES.

Before These Pains Get a Hold Take Precautions.

Rheumatism, is now considered by many doctors to be a blood disease and should be treated by rigid dieting Medicines, at least in the first stages are less effective than curbing the appetite.

If one is of rheumatic tendency she should eat little or no red meat, cut out sugar, bread, sweets and acid fruits and should drink plenty of water.

This may seem like a severe treatment for a small complaint, at the first only twinges Neglected, they mean untold suffering, often complete disablement.

It would be a good thing for those of us who are inclined to take rheumatic twinges lightly to recall the definition of the late Dr. Spurgeon, himself a great sufferer from rheumatism and gout, "If you put your hand into a vise and let a man press as hard as he can, that is rheumatism: if he can be got to press a little harder, it is gout."

Before that vise gets such a hold it cannot be loosed, take precautions Dieting may not be pleasant, but it is pleasanter than being a rheumatic victim with only oneself to blame.

"Another thing about Jinx is that he never goes anywhere without knocking."—Houston Post.

Self.

A perfect understanding of self is a perfect understanding of all things, for man is the condensed whole. From such a man no power is withheld. All things are obedient to him. —Freedom.

Life, upon the whole, is far more pleasurable than painful; otherwise we would not feel pain so impatiently when it comes.—Leigh Hunt.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Ills of Charleroi People.

As one weak link weakens a chain so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down.

Overwork, strains, colds and other causes injure the kidneys and when their activity is lessened the whole body suffers from the excess of uric poison circulated in the blood.

Aches and pains and languor and urinary ills come and there is an ever-increasing tendency towards more serious troubles. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kidney ill Charleroi cures are the proof.

Mrs John Wilson Third street Charleroi, Pa., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Piper Bros' Drug Store have been used in our family for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble and have always brought great relief. METHODISTS ARE WHITEWASHED BY SCORE OF 6 TO 0

Capt. Mason's Baptists Prove Too Strong for Barnett's Aggregation

Whitewashed to a finish by the Baptists Friday night the Methodists hung to their position at the last end of the standing with all the tenacity of a good grip. The score was 6 to 0. Both the Methodist and Baptist teams played with rather mussed up teams, owing to the rainy weather of the afternoon giving the idea that there would not be any game.

One Arch Mason did the hurling for the Baptists and did it so effectively that the Methodists only got two safeties [illegible] one of these a scratch. The Baptists lammed the ball for five safeties off Bege and made them count something.

There weren't any scores made until the fourth. Then Lindsay got a walk, and Capt. Mason cracked out a two bagger scoring Lindsay. McIlvaine likewise laced the horsehide for two bases scoring Mason. Mac scored when Culp singled. Lindsay got a base on balls in the next inning stole second and came home on a couple of errors. In the sixth Paxton singled, and went to second and third on passed balls to come home on a wild heave. Donohue worked Bege for a walk in the seventh inning went to second on a foul fly which Protin held too long, and third on an error, coming home on a passed ball. Score:

the unforseen may occur which might bring any one of these three teams scampering pell-mell from their positions.

The Lutherans however, appear to be safely ensconced at the head of the class. To have them spelled down will require three lost games, and the Episcopals or Catholics as the case may be to win every blessed one of theirs, or else by a different kind of hope, the Lutherans to lose all of the games they play and the Episcopals or Catholices win all but [illegible] they have to play. And that hardly looks reasonable to suppose.

Meanwhile the Catholices are just one game behind the Episcopals, and have an extra postponed contest to play. The Baptists are one game behind the Catholics.

It doesn't look now as though any team in a second division place was going to rise above that honor, but such a thing is possible. The Christians and First Presbyterians are at present tied, with 400 per cent each and each team has four games. The Baptists next above are four games ahead, with five yet to play. The Washington Avenues and the Methodists seem to have a lead on the bottom rung, and apparently are doing their best to stick right there. It is a matter of opinion who will be given last honors, but at present the Methodists have the best hold.

Miss Bird Clelland, of Buckhannon, W. Va., after a visit with Miss Jessie Copeland left this morning for her home. She was accompanied by Miss Copeland as far as Uniontown.

Edward Smith, of Los Angeles, and Joseph Smith, of Pittsburg were the guests of Joseph A. Wheeler Friday, making the trip from Pittsburg out in an automobile.

Wm. Frye of Gallation, Tenn., is a guest at the home of his nephew, Charles O. Frye of Crest avenue. Mr. Frye was born in this section, and moved with his father to Tennesee four years after the close of the Civil War.

Raymond Hurst of Warren, O., is a guest of his uncle, Tax Collector J. W. Mathias.

Miss Agnes Atkinson of Butler, formerly of Charleroi has returned to her home after spending a week at the home of Mrs. S. Rock of Washington avenue.

Told Him In Few Words.

A man once wrote to the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, the famous preacher, saying that he had heard he smoked and could not believe it to be true. Would Mr. Spurgeon write and tell him if it really was so? The reply was:

"Dear Sir—I cultivate my flowers and burn my weeds. Yours truly, C. H. Spurgeon."

Puzzling.

Millions—Do you think you will learn to like your titled son-in-law? Billions—I don't know. I can't tell where to place him in my expense account. He is neither a recreation nor an investment.

BASEBALL BINGLES

The Methodists had two new faces in their line-up Friday night. Tom Gray was on first and Farrow did the catching. Pollock occupied the second bag position and Jimeson was sent to short. Farrow is a little chap, and young, but has with the proper amount of training the making of a good catcher.

* * *

Manager Cummings, of the Baptists was obliged to don a uniform and radiate in right field. He didn't have any chance and consequently played a perfect game. At bat he struck out as regularly as he knew how.

* * *

Had the game been put off a moment longer it would have been forfeited to the Methodists. The Baptists last player to round out the nine came just in time.

* * *

Jimeson had only one chance on short but accepted that neatly.

* * *

Arch Mason surely had things working his way. With a little coaching in the box there is no reason why he shouldn't make them all hunt the tall and uncut.

* * *

Protin is getting his batting eye back. Now then watch out.

* * *

The Baptists now have the long and the short of it Jim Culp hailing from North Charleroi who was in middle garden Friday night has to look down when he peeps into Long John McIlvaines eyes. Scheller who wasn't in Friday's game is the tiniest on the team.

* * *

McKean hit one down to third that was handled perfectly and with dispatch, yet he beat it out. Speedy is a hard man to catch on infield bounders.

* * *

Paxton doesn't look bad at second pillow for the Baptists.

Two negro men came up to the outskirts of a crowd where a senator was making a campaign speech. After listening to the speech for about ten minutes one of them turned to his companion and asked:

"Who am dat man, Sambo?"

"Ah don' know what his name am," Sambo replied, "but he certainly do recommen' hisself mos' highly."—Success Magazine.

LUTHERANS SEEM TO BE IN LINE TO GET PENNANT

Taking a bird's eye view of the situation in the Church League, it rather looks as though the Lutherans ant. The Episcopals, Catholics and Baptists, composing with the Lutherans the first division aggregation, will from the same view point be left to scrap it out among themselves which is entitled to second honors. At present the Episcopals look good for this share of the proceeds while the Catholics will crowd them for next highest money. But
